

Avaya IP Office Wins Product of the Year

Internet Telephony magazine has named Avaya IP Office 8.1 its 2012 Unified Communications Product of the Year. Selection was based on quality and excellence in addressing the real needs of small-to-midsize businesses.

Designed to enhance workforce flexibility, this best-in-class solution offers a wide range of benefits and capabilities including:

- Scale: Supports up to 1,200 users per service with centralized licensing and management.
- Video Collaboration: Enables rich, fully interactive, multi-party video conferencing for users inside and outside the corporate network.
- Mobility: Extends service to personal devices. Make calls, check voice mail, send instant messages and see presence status from an Apple iPad or Windows device.
- Microsoft Lync Integration: Click to call contacts, switch from IM to a call, and access the corporate directory without costly voice licenses, complex administration, or server modifications.
- Simplified Networking: Avaya ERS 3500 series switches deliver one-minute plug-and-play set up with Avaya IP phones.
